Alexandria County News. The corn crops of the county are much better this year than for many years past. The leading from Washington, Georgetown and will probably decide next Tuesday whether not the county will purchase a "stone some of the vast amount of rock with which the county abounds, and commencing the longlooked-for beginning of macadamizing the county roads.—The legislature of the state during its last session empowered the "board of supervisors" to levy a heavy tax on the county for road purposes, and the board at its last month's meeting fixed the levy at the very highest amount, consequently the people look for a beginning of the construction of stone roads. There is no section of the county in which stone roads could be built cheaper than in Alexandria county, which is now furnishing from its immense quarries a large proportion from its immense quarries a large proportion of the stone for building purposes and for laying the foundation of the streets for Washington city.—

Now, as it has been settled that the Grand Army of the Republic will hold im encampent in Washington city next year it is made. ment in Washington city next year, it is unde stood that the people of Alexandria county will, through the Virginia delegation in Conwill, through the Virginia delegation in Con-gress, try to have the government improve the Arlington estate by building a grand me-morial hall there, by improving the roads to and from the cemetery and, if possible, the commencement of the building of a grand memorial bridge across the Potomac to Ar-lington, so high above the river as not to obstruct navigation. Col. Hains, U.S.A. egineer for the government, has submitted plan for a bridge at this point to Congress, and the Senate, a few sessions ago, passed a bill for that purpose without a dissenting vote, but it failed to get through the House. It is now thought that by the help of the G. A. R. this bridge bill can be easily passed next session.

Looking for a Runaway Boy.

Mrs. Mary E. Brown, a widow, who lives at No. 1230 3d street southwest, has requested the police to make inquiry concerning her foureen-year-old boy, Charles Andrew Brown, who ran away from home about three months ago. The little boy ran away, it is thought, for fear his mother would whip him for not attending

When he disappeared he was well dressed, but his mother heard from him two or three weeks ago near Bowie station. From the information received the boy was dressed in ragged clothes and his mother thinks he does not want to come home unless he gets better clothes.

GEORGETOWN. A STUBBORN DOG FIGHT.

In the college woods vesterday about dust near the same spot where a bloody cat fight took place several weeks ago, a small crowd took place several weeks ago, a small crowd collected to witness the mangling of a well-known bull dognamed "Tip." Only those well acquainted with the dogs' owners were told of the coming fight. It is stated the brutes, one of which belonged to a Washington sport, fought for about an hour, when "Tip" was terribly beaten and compelled to yield to his still fresh aniagonist, amid the curses of his owner and the satisfied exclamations of the other dog's admirers. To whom the dogs here other dog's admirers. To whom the dogs be-longed could not be learned, but it is under-stood they will meet again at an early date near the Eastern branch if the defeated dog re-covers from his injuries. At the fight unusual good order was preserved.

OLD COINS FOUND.

Maj. Geo. Hill is the possessor of a bright
Spanish silver dollar, bearing the date 1778, that was found at the Virginia end of the Chain bridge, near the spot where a skeleton was un-earthed several days ago. Beside the bones earthed several days ago. Beside the bones were found a number of copper coins. In this same locality Mr. Harris, who keeps a store near by, has found a number of coins, all bearing dates before 1800. Some time ago while the employes of Mr. L. A. Littlefield were dredging near Colonial Beach a silver dollar, identical in date and preservation to Maj. Hill's, was found. Now that these facts have leaked out, the country people who live near the Chain bridge and try people who live near the Chain bridge are said to daily hunt for more coins which they believe to be buried in that neighborhood. "MOTLEY" DRILL AND A DRUM-HEAD COUR MARTIAL, RESULTING IN THE SENTENCE OF THE JUDGE INSTEAD OF THE ACCUSED—THE USUAL BAIN-INSTRUCTING THE GUARD. ce of The Evening Star. COLONIAL BEACE, VA., August 5, 1891. "Corporal of the guard, number one!" was the voice of Private Flood, sentry on nun

The corporal aforesaid happens to be at th other end of the camp, but comes up on double viously submitting the manuscript for revisi "Say, corporal, chase those pigs out of th amp, please," said Flood, and the corporal had to exercise his office of censor amid the howls of joy of the entire "A" company. The sentry on the cook-house post is not so high toned, and does this for himself when occasion requires, at least he is said to do so, but no one ever saw him do it. Sergt. Kelly came out in the control of the c a startling bathing suit of gorgeous hue and liberally striped. The boys say that he wears his sergeant's chevrons upon the sleeves. sheer fright.

Wealthy Mrs. Tiffin's Escapade Causes Scan-

Early in the afternoon, while most of the officers were over at the hotel, the fife and drum corps was heard to break into a quick step and some cheering was heard down the beach, coming nearer and nearer. A column was seen to be advancing, whether men or cat tle no one was able for some time to deter mine. The column developed into the battal-ion in column of "motley." Capt. Mahany, devoid of any vestige of uniform and clad in the most wonderful gear imaginable, acted as the most wonderful gear imagnable, acted as major, carrying in his hand a club in lieu of a sword. Straight up the road they marched and wheeled into battalion front facing the nineteen years of age, and she is now only and wheeled into battalion front facing the hotel, with the center opposite the porch. Presently the still, small voice of the post adjutant was heard, commanding "Carry, snything-you-got." The costume of the adjutant was noted for its brevity, the principal garment consisting of a white wrapper, which he declared was cut bias. As for the line, every change and garment was in use and such a m ley array never was seen. It was noticeable that the most perfect discipline prevailed. Soon came the command "Sound off," which

A DRUM-HEAD COURT-MARTIAL. From the hotel the battalion was marched to the pavilien and the band played dance music. Suddenly there was a commotion and THE STAR's correspondent was seized, his lantern taken away and he was summoned before a drum-head court-martial to answer to various charges preferred by Capt. Mahany. A jury trial was demanded and Lieut. Dunn was retained as counsel for the defense. The accused named the adjutant as the judge of the court, who also acted as judge advocate. The culprit was accused of the following beinous crimes, to wit. First putting a cheet in Capt Mahander. was accused of the ionowing nemous crimes, to wit: First, putting a ghost in Capt. Mahany's tent; second. classing the boys; third, neglect-ing to provide for a supply of STARS for the camp.
After the testimony was all in the accused

After the testimony was all in the accused, in his own behalf, denied each of the charges and in addition entered a plea of the general bad character of the accuser, and even challenged the judge. After an admirable summing up by the counsel for the defense the case was submitted and a verdict of guilty was rendered. Through an error of the foreman the included of the prisoner. judge was convicted instead of the prisoner and the jury could not be prevailed upon to change the verdict. The judge was thereupon sentenced to take a bath in the Potomac in sentenced to take a bath in the Potomac in company with the accuser as the extent of the law in such cases. Neither expects to survive. Throughout the whole proceeding there was everywhere apparent the fine discipline which prevails in the battalion. Even under the coats of motley the true soldier was to be recognized. Never for an instant was there any disorder. No one was in the slightest incommoded. The line was marched back and dismissed upon the battalion parade ground.

INSTRUCTION THE GUARD IN THE SALVE. INSTRUCTING THE GUARD IN THE RAIN.

The usual rain set in about tattoo and cor tinued at intervals through the night, being especially severe at about 3 o'clock. The word was passed that the sentries were to be rigidly examined and instructed and all were cautioned to be on the lookout. The posts were visited in succession by the officer of the day Cross, were installed last night with due for-mality. Grand Commander John C. Ehle offi-night. The details were found to be mainly and the non-commission night. The details were found to be mainly composed of recruite, but as a rule were well instructed. Some one or two made errors of moment, but were quickly and kindly set right, and in few cases was the fault repeated. The guard was alarmed by the cry of "Fire" from No. 2 sentry, and although the blaze was out of the camp limits Corporal O'Brien had his guard down there in about a minute and a half and the office" of the day informed. The blaze was found to consist of a pile of barrel staves. Buckets were at hand and one or two served to settle the flames. For a while they burned very brightly and were taken for a helpse on fire.

reveille in deference to the command. Break-fast was a little late, but up to the usual style, which is the highest. In relation to the meals Quartermaster Sergt. Montreal society is very much excited over the marriage of Mrs. John Tiffin a westebe widow, to her coachman, an English immigrant named Arthur Crew. The latter is young, good looking and intelligent. The Tiffin family is one of the best connected in Montreal. The head of the family was Henry Tiffin, who died immensely wealthy. The former husband of nineteen years of age, and she is now only twenty-one. She owns a large country property at Sault Au Recollet, in the suburbs of Montreal, where she resides, besides a life income.

Crew came out from England two years ago, and was engaged as stable boy by Mr. Tiffin, and afterward became his coachman. Soon after his arrival he ingratiated himself with Mrs. Tiffin, and her evident partiality to him was remarked by all. The wedding was a quiet one. The couple, with witnesses, went to the little Episcopal church at Sault Au Recollet and were was rendered to the accompaniment of howls from the line. Then the line of march was married by Rev. Mr. McManus. The family of Mrs. Tiffin refuse to recognize either bride or taken up, in column of twos, through the hotel, the band playing all the while.
